

Contents

	The author	vii
1	INTRODUCTION	2
	Quality of advice	4
	Ability to communicate	5
	The balance of power	6
	The good professionals	7
	Expect the best and negotiate upwards from the worst if necessary	7
	The inadequate client	8
	Action checklist.....	10
2	CHOOSING AND APPOINTING THE PROFESSIONAL	12
	Choosing and instructing a professional	13
	5 Golden rules	13
	Rule 1: Establish what work you need doing	13
	Rule 2: Consult early.....	14
	When you need a professional and how to find one	15
	Making the choice	20
	Rule 3: Arrange a pre-instruction meeting	21
	Rule 4: See more than one firm	22
	Appointing a professional	29
	Rule 5: Insist on a letter of engagement from the professional.....	30
	Conclusion.....	31
	Checklist.....	32
3	PAYING PROFESSIONALS	34
	Fees	35
	Rules regarding estimates	36
	Rule 1: Mention fees early on	36

Rule 2: Get the estimate in writing	37
Time costs	38
Rule 3: Ask the firm whether you really need a partner to do the work proposed — a more junior member of the firm may perfectly competently handle it.....	40
Rule 4: Ask whether the individual allocated to the job has done this type of work before – insist on a partner if you wish.....	40
Rule 5: Doing a deal quickly can save money	43
Conclusions	47
4 SACKING THE PROFESSIONALS	50
TUPE	50
APPENDIX	54
Initial interviews practice note – 15 May 2008	54
1 Introduction.....	55
2 Basis upon which initial interviews are conducted	57
3 Initial information obtained from the client	58
4 Initial information given to the client	59
5 Non face-to-face interviews.....	60
6 Confidentiality.....	61
7 The interview – main areas to cover.....	61
8 Terminating the retainer	64
9 Follow-up after the interview.....	65
10 Records	65
Further information.....	66